

Rewarding those who lead by example

Glennis FERGUSON

MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP

A LIFE OF EXAMPLE

Glennis spent much of his working career mentoring countless individuals in his earned role as a supervisor in several different jobs. His family remembers his stellar qualities of leadership, responsibility, hard work, determination, and pride. He valued these qualities, and expected the same among his employees and his family.

Glennis never furthered his education beyond high school, pursuing the work force immediately post-graduation. A degree of higher learning was not a necessitated prerequisite for success for Glennis, as he earned his success with his determination to excel and his drive to provide for his family.

Glennis worked from the bottom up in every job he held, and never believed in handouts or bonuses for performing at the level that was expected of him. In fact, he raised every bar of employer expectation, and possessed a level of personal expectation that far exceeded. He instilled a deep sense of pride in his children and employees, and taught them the value of accomplishment by means of hard work. Glennis taught them to realize their own self worth, and inspired them to reach their highest potential and goals with strong work ethic and unwavering determination.

DESIRED QUALITIES FOR CONSIDERATION

In celebrating his legacy, the family of Glennis Ferguson has established an annual memorial scholarship in his honor. The monetary gift will be awarded to a graduating senior of Fayette High School who plans to attend a school of higher learning (i.e. college, university, trade school, etc.) or serve in our country's armed forces. Further criterion are a student's possession of the same values of character that were of such merit to Glennis, be it exemplified in the classroom, in involvement in extra curricular activities, and/or part-time employment; a record of academic achievement and/or improvement; and an expressed desire to be a motivated and independent contributor to society.
